

2007 All-Star team and coaches selection process

1. All-Star ballots will be generated by the Minor and Major Player Agents. The ballot will include players name, team name, and league age.
2. A player can only have their name on one ballot. If a league age 10 year old played up on a major team, their name will be placed on the 'majors' ballot. Meaning they will only be eligible to be voted onto the 11-12 year old team or the 10-11 year old team. .
3. Little League rules only require a player, during a game, to be on the field for 3 defensive outs and 1 at bat. Lacamas Little League is requiring all players to play at least 6 outs and 1 at bat. This may or may not affect coaches voting but we feel that if a player is good enough to be on the All-Star team then they should get a reasonable amount of playing time..
4. Voting will start on Wednesday, June 6th and be completed by Saturday, June 9th. Player, managers, and coaches will be voting. Umpires and board members will have the option to vote.
5. Each player voting can select 10 players in the league. Managers and coaches will vote for 13 players. Players and coaches can only vote for 2 players from their team. The remaining 8 votes must be players from other teams. This should eliminate the popularity/friendship vote grabbing. This rule is for baseball only.
6. After all ballots are cast and counted, the top 5 players chosen by the "players ballots" will be selected for the all-star team. The top 8 players chosen by the "managers ballots" (not including the 5 already chosen by the players) will also be selected for the all-star team. Each team will have 13 players and there will be alternate players also selected by the voting process.

In the majors division, the top 13 players, using the above-mentioned process, will make up the 11-12 year old all star team. The 10-11 year old team will also be selected in the same manner, selecting the next top 13 players (using the next top 5 from the players vote and the next top 8 from the managers vote).

7. After the teams have been selected the board will select the manager of each team. The manager will be able to choose their 2 coaches.
